Thirty Drivers Will Climb 14,109 Feet Above Sea Level.

By United Press.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 9.—About thirty famous auto speed kings here have entered cars for the race to the top of Pike's Peak Thursday Drivers from the east will compete against drivers from the West.

Ralph Mulford will try to establish a new world's hill-climbing record he has informed M. W. Colwell, manager of the meet.

Hughie Hughes, a veteran pilot of racing cars, has been nominated to drive a Duesenberg. Hughes has not been seen in contests recently but his victories of the past are many.

Nell (Whirlwind) Whalen will drive a Milae car.

Two Buick cars will be driven by McCoy and Dawson. It is probable that Barney Oldfield will drive his DeLage racer.

For the last few days hundreds of men have been getting the eighteen-mile highway with its winding curves and steep grades into shape for practice. A. W. Markscheffel, of Colorado Springs, piloted one of the three Cadillac cars entered up the thirteen-mile circuit in twenty-three minutes.

Mulford, Hughes, Whalen, Patterson, Rippingill, Brooks and Stentz also made several fast ascents to get acquainted with the turns and grades. The start will be made five miles from the bottom of the highway and the finish will be made at an elevation of 14,109 feet above sea level.

Visitors are coming in to Pike's Peak from all parts of Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and other surrounding states. Prizes of cash and plate valued at more than $7,800 are offered. The automobile events, for both amateur and professional drivers, will be run on Friday and Saturday, August 11-12. The motorcycle events are to precede the others on Thursday, August 10.

ITALY IS SATISFIED WITH WAR RESULTS

Success in Holding Austrians Has Been Help to the Allies.

CAPTURES 100,000 MEN

Troops Are Now in First-Class Shape Because of Early Reorganization.

This story of the great service rendered the Allies by the Italian army is the fifth in the series now being published in the Missourian. It is the last story on the armies of the Allied powers. Tomorrow the first story of the navies of the Allied countries will be published. It is written by Carl W. Ackerman, United Press Staff Correspondent at Berlin, and will tell of the German navy. Following it will be stories on the navy of each country now involved in the European War.

THE ITALIAN ARMY

By JOHN H. HEARLEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ROME, Aug. 9.—Italy today is fully satisfied with the results of the first year of the Austro-Italian war.

The once strongly fortified Austrian mountain line from Giudicarie to Monfalcone practically is all in her hands. Only a small section of Italian territory in the neighborhood of Sette Comuni has been taken.

The history of Italy's war on land reads like fiction. When the European strife began, the Italian kingdom was unprepared. Big and petty politics were dangerously mixed in it. The country's finances were in a bad way.

Army Had to Be Reorganized.
Italy's military house had to be put in order. All eyes turned to Luigi Cadorna, chief of the general staff. His father before him had led the Italians into Rome in 1870. Like him, he is a quiet man of few words and big deeds. Cadorna in twelve months worked wonders. The army increased to more than 1,500,000, trained and equipped for all kinds of warfare. The hum of munition and gun-making machinery was heard through the land.

The enemy, it was believed, would attempt to enter the country through the Trentino in the west and the Isonzo in the east. The Italian campaign was planned to retake Trent and Trieste, lock these two gates against invasion and press on possibly to Vienna. The meeting of two Austrian armies on the historic plains of Lombardy for a possible conquest of Italy had to be prevented. The great battle Napoleon had fought on Lombardian soil had taught its lesson.

Leaders Go in Disguise.
Cadorna and his intimate associate, General Porro, laid their preliminary plans well. Both knew the tricky mountainous frontier of Austria, with its natural defenses and fortifications, perfectly. Disguised as beggars, they are said often to have studied every nook and cranny of the hostile border.

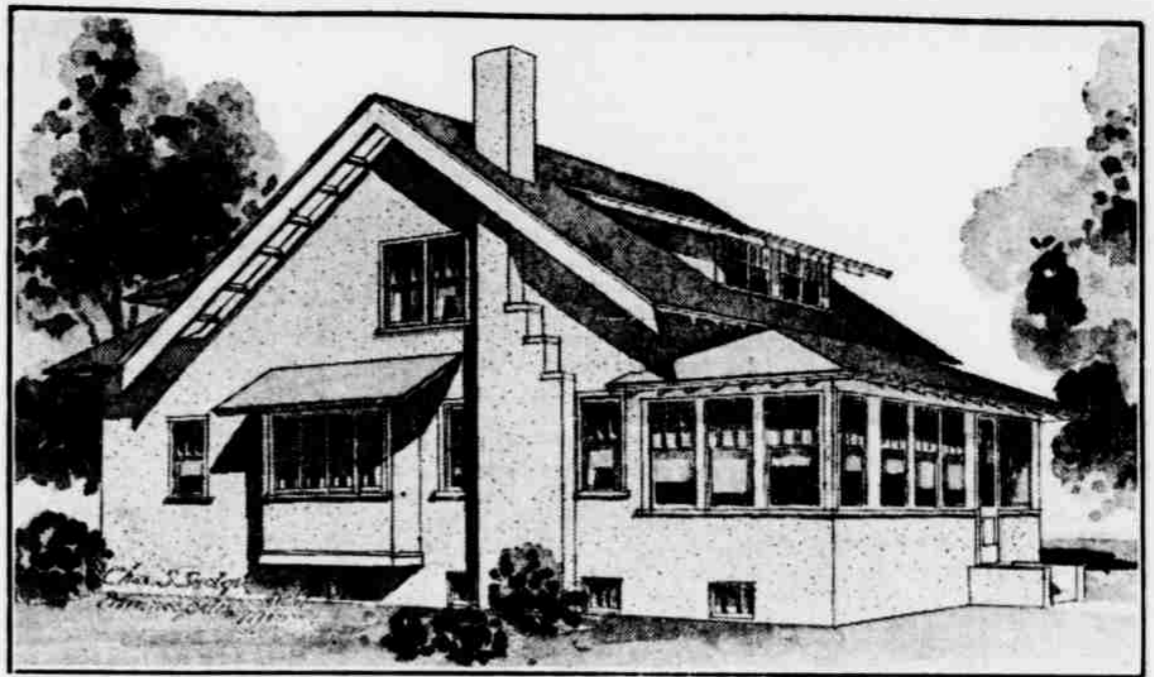

Four fronts with fourteen zones were established, the Trentino, Dolomite, Carnia and Isonzo. At the very beginning of hostilities the right bank of the Isonzo, excepting the bridgeheads of Gorizia and Tolmino fell before the Italian arms followed by the capture of Monte Nero and Plava. These things took less than a month.

During July and August the invasion of Austrian territory continued. Extensive inroads on enemy soil were made, especially in the Carso and Trentino. By October the Isonzo front was blood-soaked. The fighting about Gorizia, the key to Trieste, grew heavy early this year. March and April crowned the Italian offensive with the capture of Col di Lana. The Austrians in May delivered their first big offensive. A fierce onslaught was made on Monfalcone which fell, but later was retaken.

Many Italians Are Lost.
Meanwhile on a fifty-mile front in the Trentino 400,000 Austrians and immense quantities of ammunition were concentrated. Then came the tremendous attempt to open the way to Venetia. Thousands of Italians were mowed down. For the first time in the war the enemy set foot on Italian soil and about 500 square kilometers of territory was occupied. It was mountainous country dotted with Alpine hamlets. The Italians still held about 4,000 square kilometers of enemy soil, including the fertile plains of Monfalcone and important villages.

The Italians then began to push back the enemy, slow uphill work. Meanwhile General Brusati was openly charged with responsibility for the Austrian invasion and deprived of his command for "neglect of duty." This invasion cost the Italians 20,000 in prisoners and almost as many in killed and wounded. Austrian losses were heavy too. The initiation of the Russian offensive in early June relieved the pressure of the Italian front. By then, Italy's army had grown to

PLANS OF AN ATTRACTIVE HOME

A Cement Stucco Cottage Costing $3,000. Designed by Charles S. Sedgwick.

There is a pleasing and homelike appearance to a low roof and for this reason the tendency of late years has been towards the bungalow form of house building, with low wide spreading roofs, low stories and keeping the house down close to the ground without high foundations. This cottage design has this low appearance, and although the main living rooms and two good sleeping rooms are on the first floor; there are two nice rooms on the second floor and ample space for amusement room and storage.

The size of the cottage is 25 feet width and 10 feet depth, exclusive of the front "sun room" and porch. It is estimated to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, for $3,000 to $3,700.

The arrangement is adapted to a west or south frontage. There is one large living room across the front and entered on the right from the porch and on the left is a roomy sunparlor connected with the living room by wide sliding French windows. There is a wide projected chimney and fireplace at the left end of living room with window on each side and the dining room at the left and rear is opened into through a wide columned arch.

In the rear is a convenient bathroom and stairs to second floor with basement stairs beneath and grade entrance.

The main floor is finished in fumed oak with natural oak floor and the second floor finished in paint or enamel, with birch floor. The outside of cottage is finished in cement stucco with shingle roof, all shingles and wood trimmings stained with creosote.

The stucco is made of white cement with a light cream color, and all trimmings stained dark brown with white sash.

Your "Don't Wants" Are Somebody's "Wants"

That carriage or go-cart that the youngest child has outgrown is just what another woman wants to give her child.

That rocking chair and the old dining room table are good even though you have relegated them to the attic.

You don't need a hose and garden tools in a flat, but there are others who have just moved from flats to houses—and they are ready right now to buy hose, tools, refrigerators, etc. Even the clothing you have threatened to sell for old rags will bring a better price if it isn't all worn out. Almost every one of your "don't wants" is sure to be somebody's "want." And a Missourian Want Ad is the way to find the somebody and the money. Just phone 55 and tell your "don't wants" to the Missourian.
